Summary

The online-user forum was developed and will be launched officially through the second workshop of the EGN Consortium with the Reference Group on 6 March 2007.

It will be accessible through the EuroGeoNames website (section EuroGeographics website) for the purposes of information dissemination and the publication of project progress and results to all stakeholders interested in the EuroGeoNames project.

This user forum will not be restricted only to those stakeholders being partners in the project. By that, a democratic process for commenting and shaping the EGN activities will be possible.
